The object of the preposition is the noun or pronoun following the preposition. Prepositions can have more than one object!

A prepositional phrase is a preposition, possibly some descriptive word like an article (a, an, or the) or adjective, and the object of the preposition.

EXAMPLE: My car is in the garage. The words in the garage are the prepositional phrase.

Prepositional phrases have two words at a minimum. Their length can vary anywhere from two to five or so words in most cases.

- Can act as adjectives answering the questions which one? how many? what kind?
- adjectives modify (describe) nouns or pronouns
- Can act as adverbs answer the questions to what extent? how? when? where? to what degree?
- adverbs modify (describe) verbs, adjectives, or other adverbs
